Psychological Defense Mechanisms with Students of Intermediate Level

Abbas, Ali

The study on hand addresses the current Multi Defense Mechanisms of students at intermediate level. Where the study aimed to identify the prevalence of tricks the defense of students at intermediate level, also it aimed to identify the most common defensive tricks due to everyday situations. The study was conducted on (214) students from middle school through descriptive analytical method.

Awards Won: